25 year award
call for entries

aia iowa 25 year award

Recognizing longstanding excellence in architecture and emphasizes its importance in the community.

Designers have an obligation to their clients and community to create buildings that stand the test of time. Buildings that stay true to an intent and remain functional through the progression of programs within often contribute to the movement and shaping of our community over time. The 25 Year Award honors work that remains relevant a quarter century after completion.

Eligibility

- Entries must be a completed building project in Iowa, a single building or groups of buildings, completed at least 25 but not more than 40 years ago.
- The building must be standing in substantially completed form and in good condition; it should still carry out the basic original program.
- It must have excellence in function in the distinguished execution of its original program and in the creative aspects of its statement by today's standards.
- Restorations, rehabs, and interior design projects are excluded from consideration.
- Significant additions to buildings will be considered.
- Buildings submitted for consideration do not have to be designed by an Iowa firm; however, the building must be located in Iowa.
- Entries must be nominated or submitted by a current AIA Iowa member. For consideration, the project does not need to be nominated by the firm of record.
- Projects will be evaluated based on the images and written description only. The jury will not be able to visit the buildings.
